

Important Information for Saturday

Saturday, November 14th

Registration will be held on the third floor of the NMSU Corbett Center in the Ballrooms from 7:30-8:30 am. We will have a continental breakfast for you.

Keynote Speaker: Dr. Ken Culp is a Principal Extension Specialist for Volunteerism, Evaluation, and Curriculum with Kentucky 4-H Youth Development at the University of Kentucky. His work focuses on strengthening volunteer engagement, developing effective educational resources, evaluating program impact, and supporting Extension professionals. A respected educator, researcher, and presenter, Dr. Culp has contributed extensively to the field of volunteer administration and positive youth development. He also provides leadership for the Kentucky Volunteer Forum, one of the nation's premier professional-development experiences for 4-H volunteers and Extension professionals. His practical, engaging approach equips volunteers with the knowledge, confidence, and tools needed to create meaningful learning experiences and make a lasting difference in the lives of young people.

If you select "From Idea to Innovation: 3D Printing at the Aggie Innovation Center" during the Session 3 workshops, this workshop will be held off-site at a separate location. A guide will be available to help participants travel to the workshop site and ensure everyone arrives at the correct location.

Dinner is open to everyone, and registered participants are welcome to bring their families. The cost of dinner is included for all Adult Leaders Retreat registrants. Additional family members and guests may attend for $25 per person.

After Dinner Activity:

Race to the Finish: An FCS Escape Room Challenge led by Tamara Schubert, Chaves County 4-H Agent, Family & Consumer Sciences

Parents, 4-H volunteers, and community leaders are invited to join the race-day pit crew for a fun, fast-paced learning experience! Teams will tackle interactive puzzles and challenges that highlight practical Family and Consumer Sciences skills, including healthy living, food safety, smart spending, communication, and problem-solving. Along the way, participants will discover useful home strategies and creative ways to support youth through hands-on learning. Whether you are a longtime 4-H supporter or new to the program, this race car-themed workshop offers an exciting opportunity to connect with others, strengthen valuable life skills, and see how 4-H helps prepare young people for success, now and in the future.
